Pakistan-India Relations, Kashmir and External Defense Analysis.

Eastern Front:

"If we do go to war, psychological operations are going to be absolutely a critical, critical part of any campaign that we must get involved in.":

General H. Norman Schwarzkopf

"The lie can be maintained only for such time as the State can shield the people from the political, economic and/or military consequences of the lie. It thus becomes vitally important for the State to use all of its powers to repress dissent, for the truth is the mortal enemy of the lie, and thus by extension, the truth is the greatest enemy of the State."

Joseph Goebbels - Goebbels was Hitler's Minister of Propaganda

What India is doing to Pakistan is best explained in the above quotes. While the Indian PM continued to call his bluff of peace, even his own team warned him of carrying the game too far or to give too many concessions to Pakistan to appear as the peacemakers.

Singh's comment spurs hopes for peace

By Jawed Naqvi

NEW DELHI, April 17: According to all available accounts, Indian Prime Minister Manmohan Singh was asked by a reporter at a media interaction aboard his plane on Sunday to list five things he would like to achieve with Pakistan. His reply was laced with unusual humour. "Well, I think five is too much," Dr Singh chortled on his way back from Kazakhstan. "If I can succeed in normalising relations between India and Pakistan as they should prevail between two normal states, I would consider my job well done.".. <http://www.dawn.com/2011/04/18/singhs-comment-spurs-hopes-for-peace.html>

Singh team cautious on Pakistan visit

By Our Correspondent

NEW DELHI, April 19: Prime Minister Manmohan Singh's senior cabinet colleagues and ranking officials are opposed to a bilateral political visit by him to Pakistan and would prefer to mask it as part of cricket diplomacy among other ruses, a local report said on Tuesday. Without naming its sources, The Mail Today said that higher echelons of the government, including senior ministers, do not favour a stand-alone visit by the prime minister to Pakistan...

<http://www.dawn.com/2011/04/20/singh-team-cautious-on-pakistan-visit.html>

Indians just do not want to give any concession to Pakistan under the circumstances when the most corrupt and compromised regime is in Islamabad, actually doing the bidding for the Indian strategic interests.

Last week, we gave the following assessment of the Pak-India relations.

India continues its double faced diplomacy towards Pakistan to pacify rising anger in Pakistan against Indian support to insurgencies, terrorism and the blocking of Pakistani waters. What is most unfortunate is that it is the Pakistani PM who is acting as Indian information minister and doing the bidding for the enemy state. Now it is clear that Pakistan and India would go to war on water in not so far future! With summers approaching and water shortage hitting the vital food crops, the temperature on diplomatic and military axis would also rise rapidly. Proxy war between Pakistan and India is now heating up in the entire region with regional countries also becoming the battle ground for Indian total war on Pakistani state. It is incredible that how Indian foreign office, information ministry and their leadership maintain a friendly face towards Pakistan while attacking Pakistan on all economic, diplomatic and military axis in the entire region.

What Pakistan is facing today is best called as information and psychological warfare as the most critical segment of the overall 4th Generation war imposed on the state.

According to modern war doctrines, the weapon systems and platforms for Information Warfare and Psychological Operations are considered to be far more strategically lethal than nuclear assets, air and naval power as well as land and Special Forces. Psy-Ops open an imperceptible attack on the enemy, soften up the target rendering it vulnerable and then spearhead the invasion by other forces till total annihilation of the enemy is accomplished. Even after the cessation of hostilities, Psy-Ops and Information warfare is kept actively engaged with the enemy in order to terminate all military operations.

PsyOps are the most lethal and widespread but least expensive war operations in any theatre of war. Using the most common urban platforms of electronic and print media, cyber world, internet, communication systems and education institutions in a sophisticated and solidly coordinated information war strategy, global perception management can be achieved, consequently defeating and disorienting the enemy often without even firing a shot on ground!

The troops and soldiers engaged in this subtle lethal war are journalists, analysts, diplomats, media tycoons, TV anchors, advertising agencies, religious scholars, fifth columnists and teachers - working in a global urban environment, in air conditioned offices – targeting the entire globe or a particular nation and controlling its mental, emotional and psychological direction towards the grand strategic objectives of the imposed war.

In the rules and operations of Information War and Psy-Ops, a hostile and compromised influential journalist is far deadlier a weapon against the State than a suicide bomber and therefore deserves an even harsher punishment accorded to the latter by the law.

Pakistan is under attack through a vicious and violent 4th generation war, which is designed to break up the country on the Yugoslavia pattern. The war is already in the advanced stages with almost 50,000 Pakistanis killed in the last 10 years in multiple insurgencies, urban warfare and political violence. But the most lethal and sinister aspect of this war remains the Psychological and Information assault against the state and the people – targeting the Islamic ideology, Pakistani identity, National unity, prestige of the armed forces and the need for the strategic assets; subsequently, creating such thought confusion and mental and moral anarchy that the very foundations of the state and its nationhood have been shaken to the core.

Even more shocking is the fact that despite facing an existential threat from this axis of war, Pakistani government, Information management organizations and even the armed forces have completely ignored to build defenses or to launch any counter attack to defend this exposed flank. Pakistan is practically defenseless on this axis and hostile psy-ops forces have almost overrun the entire nation and the country without any resistance, even finding willing collaborators within the state organs to facilitate the decimation of national morale and character.

Pakistan is losing the war on this critical axis – and by default would lose the ongoing war on ground as well, despite the heroic sacrifices of its armed forces if this exposed flank is not protected.

Losing the psy-ops means losing the war despite winning the ground battles in the process! Pakistan may be winning the battles against the insurgents and the terrorists, but the state and the armed forces as well as the patriots are losing the war on the fronts that matter the most.

Currently information warfare is being applied in order to inculcate those values, beliefs, and codes of behavior in the Pakistani youth that are designed by the western propagandists. This growing tactical media tool is targeting the Pakistani society in a way where it can first be disintegrated and then integrated into an institutional structure driven by the new world order of the West.

“In this environment, the old adage that ‘A lie can be halfway around the world before the truth has its boots on’ becomes doubly true with today’s technologies...the longer it takes to put a strategic communication framework into place, the more we can be certain that the vacuum will be filled by the enemy”-

Donald H. Rumsfeld, Secretary of Defense, remarks delivered at Harold Pratt House, New York, N.Y., Feb. 17, 2006.

What Rumsfeld’s words are particularly true in Pakistan’s case where the vacuum had been filled by none other than our staunch adversary and our own media like the Jang group which is too keen to give this space to our enemies.

“Amman Ki Asha”, a carefully crafted sugar coated concept for solidifying the perpetual cultural onslaught by the Indian media, in complete contradiction to the core ideology of Pakistan. One thing which most of our so-called neo liberals in the media had been hiding from the general public is the hypocrisy of these fake aman ki asha initiators; an astonishing fact about Amman Ki Asha which surfaced last year when the slogan “LOVE PAKISTAN” was objected to by the Indian establishment and the observation was conveyed to Times of India in this regard. This incident has actually exposed the latent objective behind this conspiracy.

Page 15 of The Times of India, 8th January 2010, shown below, describes the mentality of Indians. This survey was conducted by TOI after the project initiated. Majority of Indian masses think of Pakistan as a source of evil and the Indian media back home did not compromise on its commitment towards Indian land.

Statistics speak volumes – Aman ki Asha reflected through Indian minds

Pakistan armed forces are only focusing on the military aspect of the war imposed on the nation and the state while the media and information war as well as the economic war imposed on the country is totally ignored. While fighting a ruthless insurgency on the western border, Pakistan is forced to rely more and more on the strategic weapons as Indian force projection and penetration capabilities increase rapidly on Pakistan's eastern borders. Pakistan forces are spread thin, are involved in a war for the last 10 years and now face a very hostile and aggressive Indian threat on the East. Pakistan's response could only be to go nuclear in case of a real threat and the preparations for such an eventuality are on big time.

N-capable ballistic missile tested

By Our Staff Reporter

ISLAMABAD, April 19: Pakistan successfully carried out on Tuesday the first test flight of a nuclear-capable and short-range ballistic missile, which is believed to have been developed in response to India's military doctrine called "Cold Start". The short-range and surface-to-surface ballistic missile, Hatf IX (Nasr), has a range of 60km...

India launches three satellites on single rocket

BANGALORE, April 20: India launched a rocket carrying three satellites into orbit on Wednesday in its latest effort to gain a share of the global commercial space market. The main satellite in the launch from the Sriharikota space centre in Andhra Pradesh was the remote-sensing Resourcesat-2, which will study the effect of human life on the Earth's natural resources...

<http://www.dawn.com/2011/04/21/india-launches-three-satellites-on-single-rocket.html>

For the militaries of the two countries, the so called peace initiative or "Aman Ki asha" mean nothing but a propaganda ploy by the Indian side to gain time to prepare. In reality, that's exactly what this so called peace initiative actually is – a deception and psy-ops to gain time to prepare for the final war!

Western Theatre:

The strained relations between ISI and CIA are now on boiling levels. The frustration and rage within the US armed forces and the administration is breathtaking but they are hugely frustrated by the fact that there is nothing they can do to Pakistan.

Mullen launches diatribe against ISI

By Baqir Sajjad Syed

ISLAMABAD, April 20: The US Joint Chiefs of Staff Chairman, Admiral Michael Mullen, was in a mood to name and shame on Wednesday. Without mincing his words, he made it clear that ISI's continued links with the Haqqani network were at the core of Pakistan's problematic relations with the United States....

<http://www.dawn.com/2011/04/21/mullen-launches-diatribes-against-isi.html>

Last week, we gave the following assessment of the real crisis now brewing between Pakistan and US.

“The ISI-CIA relations continue to take direct hits this week also. While the ISI and Pakistan army are more confident and firm in their stance, the American administration, army and the CIA are downplaying the crisis but giving conflicting and confused signals in the process. US know that relations have now hit rock bottom and can snap anytime. Pakistan is now asking CIA to drastically cut its operations in Pakistan else Pakistan would respond by cutting off cooperation in Afghan war. This is the most severe threat for the US and there is genuine panic in the US government. Pakistan army chief and the DG ISI are themselves leading this counter attack to clip the wings of CIA. But despite arrogance by CIA, US military and the administration also realize that they cannot push Pakistan beyond a certain red line. If Pakistan cuts the NATO supplies, that would be the end of their Afghan adventure. Also, US need Pakistan to initiate talks with the Afghan Taliban to cut out some sort of peace agreement which may reduce coalition casualties in Afghanistan. Despite the frictions, the US administration is also giving signals that they will cooperate with Pakistan over drones. US is in no position to resist Pakistan’s demands if Pakistan’s political and military leadership are on the same grid. Right now, while the Pakistan army is taking a firm view of the attacks, the PPP regime continues to give tacit approval”

Their most vital lifeline of NATO supplies pass through the country and now even the civil society and political parties are backing the Pakistan army to go harsh on the Americans! This has aggravated the crisis for US and has eased the pressure from the Pakistan army as now pressure is also being generated from the political parties against the US and NATO supplies.

Sit-in to continue till victory, says Imran

By Ashfaq Yusufzai

PESHAWAR, April 23: The campaign to get the US to stop carrying out drone attacks in tribal areas would continue till its “logical conclusion”, Imran Khan, chief of the Pakistan Tehrik-i-Insaf (PTI), said here on Saturday. Speaking to thousands of supporters during a sit-in at Hayatabad township, from where many of the vehicles carrying supplies for foreign forces in Afghanistan pass, Mr Khan said: “Pakistanis are not animals but human beings. That’s why they should be protected against aggression.”...

<http://www.dawn.com/2011/04/24/sit-in-to-continue-till-victory-says-imran.html>

Pakistan is now tightening the grip on CIA in the region. The blockade of NATO supplies is the most potent threat which continues to bring US back for more talks. The relationship is now hitting rock bottom though neither side want it to be broken irrevocably. Pakistan want a greater role in Afghan affairs, eliminate terrorism in tribal areas and want Indian influence to be eliminated from Afghanistan. Till the time US is in Afghanistan, Pakistan will have to remain engaged with the CIA but the terms of engagements can be renegotiated and made more favorable for Pakistan. For the last 10 years, Pakistan was the “most bullied US ally”, in the words of Pakistan army chief. Now, it is payback time for Pakistan.

Challenges remain in US-Pak ties: Mullen

ISLAMABAD, April 21: Chairman of the US Joint Chiefs of Staff Admiral Michael Mullen's visit to Islamabad may have eased some of the tensions, but clearly many of the contentious issues, including differences over the Haqqani network and drone attacks, persist. Significant challenges remained in the relationship and he and Pakistani Army Chief General Ashfaq Parvez Kayani brought those up in their meeting, Admiral Mullen said after the meeting. Ahead of his dinner meeting with Gen Kayani, the US admiral accused the ISI of retaining links with the Haqqani network, thus setting a tough tone for the dialogue...

Pak-Afghan water talks under way

ISLAMABAD, April 19: The United States is facilitating initial talks between Pakistan and Afghanistan on a bilateral water treaty as part of its efforts for Afghanistan-Pakistan-US cooperation on water, informed sources told Dawn on Tuesday. The US-led international organisations are currently engaged in Afghanistan under a 'donor-funded Afghan Rebuild Programme' in the assessment of the current situation and the strategy development for short- and long-term water sector projects and rehabilitation of irrigation system in the war-ravaged country....

Within Afghanistan, Taliban are gaining ground rapidly and more and more daring attacks on NATO and even on Iranians are being witnessed. France's visiting defense minister was the target and this shows how precarious the security situation has become. This is where role of Pakistan becomes vital for US/NATO as well as for Iran also as Taliban would only listen to Turkey and Pakistan if there has to be any political settlement.

Gunman kills two at Afghan defence HQ

KABUL, April 18: A gunman in Afghan army uniform opened fire inside Kabul's defence ministry on Monday, killing two soldiers and wounding seven in an audacious strike at the heart of government claimed by the Taliban. The attack, which Taliban militants said targeted France's visiting Defence Minister Gerard Longuet, was the third against Afghan security targets by uniformed militants in four days and one of the worst security breaches in years.....

Pakistan as the strategic bridging force :

Pakistan holds a unique strategic, military, political and ideological place among Muslim world and is the only nuclear power in the entire Muslim world having cordial relations with every Muslim country, irrespective of ethnic and sectarian demography, giving it a distinctive political stature. History of Pakistani armed forces fighting in Arab-Israel wars in 1967 and 1973 is yet another unique honor for Pakistan among the Muslim states. On sectarian level, Pakistan is not a monolithic state like Iran or Saudi Arabia rather its sectarian demography contains a sizeable Shia population among the majority Sunni. This Shia populace is well integrated with Pakistani society and is playing a vital role in progress and development.

Friends or Foes?

Due to these attributes Pakistan can play the role of a mediator between the Arab world and Iran. The clash between Iranians and Saudis would be detrimental for Pakistan's interests. Pakistan need a strong government in Islamabad to quickly move in the region to salvage the situation else the repercussions on Pakistan's own security and economic scene would be catastrophic.

Political / Economic Axis:

The Zardari regime knows that it is collapsing and is now in a panic mode to find fresh partners even willing to sleep with the enemies at all costs. The shifting sands of the Pakistan politics are trying to salvage this parliament and the government by buying and bullying all those who are available for sale or compromise. This is the most bizarre scenario where all parties are now bickering and jockeying to grab the maximum while the nation continues to slide into the bottomless pit.

Budget, Senate polls trigger realignment

By Amir Wasim

ISLAMABAD: A numbers game to get through the forthcoming federal budget and next year's Senate elections is behind an increase in contacts between the ruling Pakistan People's Party (PPP) and Pakistan Muslim League-Q, background interviews with a number of politicians from the two parties reveal. Another factor that has forced the PPP leadership to look towards the PML-Q, according to PPP sources, is the 'unreliability' of the Muttahida Qaumi Movement (MQM) which "is going to unreasonable lengths only for political gains in Sindh"....<http://www.dawn.com/2011/04/20/budget-senate-polls-trigger-realignment.html>

Last week, we had given the following assessment of the meltdown which is now going to get even messier as the budget looms around the corner and the national kitty is almost empty to the point of bankruptcy.

“The collapse of all administrative and financial segments continued with impunity while the rulers remained busy in ruthless and shameless corruption – succumbing to diktats of IMF and the World Bank. All social indicators are now going in red. The government knows that it has failed and the system is going down rapidly but the crisis is further exploited by the rulers to seek more donations, loans, funds and aid to siphon off to off shore accounts while the citizens continue to be crushed under back breaking taxes, power cuts, energy shortfall and law and order anarchy. The confusion and failure in the government is breathtaking. With no corrective procedures being taken, the street anarchy is rapidly simmering and can explode anytime on smallest of trigger. Meanwhile, the self created and self inflicted energy and power crisis reach a meltdown stage crippling the national economy, industry and trade. SC however, warns the army not to interfere in the “democratic process”! There is absolutely no sign of any improvement anywhere in the government”

IMF is now going for the kill, sensing the vulnerability of the regime and the massive corruption which stains its hands. The harshest terms are being forced even to the limits of blackmail which have collapsed the entire national economic fabric with war like crisis of power, energy, fuel and even water with staggering taxes imposed on multiple levels on the already crushed masses. On the surface, IMF seems “concerned” but in reality, they continue to squeeze ruthlessly.

ISLAMABAD, April 22: Amid a serious water shortage and electricity shortfall exceeding 5,000MW, the Indus River System Authority (Irsa) rejected on Friday a request from Punjab for releasing water into the controversial Greater Thal Canal, but allowed additional discharges from Tarbela dam to improve power generation. Irsa sources told Dawn that the Punjab government had sought a release of 2,000 cusecs of water to operationalise the first phase of the Greater Thal Canal (GTC) completed recently at an estimated cost of about Rs9 billion. Irsa rejected the request in view of the water shortage and said the canal was meant mainly for the flood season and its formal opening could be considered only when water situation improved...

This is the 4th Generation war imposed on Pakistan with “Yugoslavia” doctrine in full force being deployed on ground. Now the collapse at all levels is leading towards the designed disintegration of the state with almost all parties now gunning for more provinces to be carved out of the state, each one bickering and fighting with the other for resources, water, money and energy. There are strong talks of more provinces within Punjab, another province of Hazara and then of Gilgit and Baltistan. MQM even demanding Karachi to be made a separate province. The infighting on ethnic, linguistic and sub-nationalist lines is now staring in the eyes.

The last phase of the Yugoslavia plan is now in motion while the Supreme Court and the Army still continue to weigh their options!

Hashmi wants Sharifs’ apology, calls for up to 16 provinces

By Raja Asghar

ISLAMABAD, April 21: Senior PML-N figure Javed Hashmi seemed mutinous in the National Assembly on Thursday, though differently from when he was once charged in a court, as he asked party leader Nawaz Sharif to apologise for accepting a Saudi exile for a pardoned conviction. He proposed splitting up the country’s four provinces in up to 16 for good administration. And in a speech that could rattle his colleagues in the country’s main opposition party, the ailing politician also offered a rare tribute to President Asif Ali Zardari’s political shrewdness, a day after they were seen up in arms against him in the house, saying one needed a doctorate to comprehend the moves of the man who also leads the ruling PPP...

In Baluchistan, army is trying hard to win hearts and minds of the local youth, adopting a soft reconciliatory policy which is giving dividends. But the army cannot run the Baluchistan government and is handicapped due to a corrupt and incompetent provincial regime which supports the separatists, just as we have in NWFP and Karachi.
